CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS NUMBER.

William Renwick Riddell, Puisne Justice, King's Bench Division, High Court of Justice, Ontario, since 1906. He received his education at Cobourg Collegiate Institute, and Victoria University. (Mathematical and Nat. Science Prizeman), B. Sc., LL. B. He was called to the Bar, with honors and Gold Medal, in 1883, practiced at Cobourg, 1883-1892, and in Toronto, 1892-1906. He has been General Counsel for the Wabash R. R. Co., and Special Counsel for the city of Toronto in Civic Investigation, etc. Former member of the Senate and Board of Regents, of Victoria University. Since 1894 he has been a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and for several years examiner in Roman Constitutional and International Law.

William E. Higgins is professor of pleading and practice in the School of Law of the University of Kansas, with which institution he has been connected since 1899. Prior to that time he was a practicing attorney in Kansas City, Mo. He was a member of the committee which drafted the new code of civil procedure of Kansas, and is now the chairman of a special committee on Crimes and Criminal Procedure of the State Bar Association of Kansas.

Joseph A. Hill is the Chief Statistician for the Division of Revision and Results in the Bureau of the Census and in that position has had general charge of the conduct of the special census of Institutional population, which includes the inmates of prisons, almshouses and insane asylums. He is a graduate of Harvard College, class of 1885. He pursued post-graduate studies in economics, political science, and constitutional law at Harvard and in Germany, at Berlin and Halle, receiving the degree of Ph. D. from the University of Halle in 1892. He has been a lecturer or instructor at Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania, studied tax systems of Europe as the agent of the Massachusetts Tax Commission of 1897, and has written a monograph on the English Income Tax. He has been connected with the Census Bureau since 1899, and had a large share in the preparation of the Census reports or bulletins on Illiteracy, Child Labor, Women at Work, and Marriage and Divorce.

F. Emory Lyon was a student at the University of Wisconsin in 1897, where he took a post-graduate course in Anthropology and Sociology. He is a graduate of the Chicago Theological Seminary, and Doctor of Psychology from the Chicago School of Psychology. Author of "The Art of Living." Former lecturer in the Froebelian Training School on "Primitive Play and the Child of To-day." Vice-president (1911) of the National Prisoners' Aid Association and of the Illinois State Conference of Charities and Correction. Founder and Superintendent of the Central Howard Association, the Prisoners' Aid Society operating in eight of the Central Western States. Dr. Lyon presented the subject of the "Payment of Prisoners" before the American Prison Association in 1908, which caused the appointment of a special committee for the consideration of this subject. He was asked to prepare a paper on this subject for the International Prison Congress in 1910, and to translate and review the papers written on this theme by foreign delegates. As a result of this discussion, the principle of the payment of prisoners was recommended by vote of the Congress, and several states and cities have successfully inaugurated legislation providing that prisoners be paid for the benefit of their dependents.

William Eddy Collett entered the Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio, in 1882. Impaired health compelled him to leave the University and he entered the work of the ministry. He was appointed pastor of a large circuit in northwestern Ohio, where he served for four consecutive years. At the end of a term of service in his second pastorate, in West Central Ohio, he transferred to Colorado, and there continued in the pastorate until he received a call to the General Secretaryship of the Colorado Prison Association to which position he was appointed on January 7, 1904. In the fall of 1909, on condition that he might retain the general oversight of the Colorado Prison Association, he accepted the call of the Trustees of the United Charities of Denver to the Executive Secretaryship of that work, and is now entering upon his third year of service in that capacity.

Robert Ferrari was born in New York City. Member of the New York City bar. Educated in the Public Schools of that city, in the College of the City of New York, and in Columbia College, from which he received the B. A. degree. He spent one year in post-graduate studies at Columbia University and received the degree of M. A. He taught school for two years. Afterwards he studied law at the Columbia University School of Law, and was graduated. He has been for three years a lecturer in Italian on Government for the Lecture Bureau of the Board of Education of New York City. He is also a writer on matters that concern the Italians in America, and was one of the founders of the only Italian branch of the Y. M. C. A. in the world outside of Italy. He is a teacher of Literature, Debating and Public Speaking in the Y. M. C. A. He has contributed legal articles to Nelson's Encyclopedia.

Caesare Lombroso (1836-1909). Appointed Professor of diseases of the mind at Pavla 1862, and eventually became professor of medical law and psychiatry at Turin. His great book, "The Criminal," appeared in 1875 and marked the beginning of the science of criminal anthropology. For many years he was editor of Archivio di psichiatria antropologia criminale e scienze penali, and is the author of numerous works.
