Winter 1959

International Conference on Criminal Law Administration

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarlycommons.law.northwestern.edu/jclc

Part of the Criminal Law Commons, Criminology Commons, and the Criminology and Criminal Justice Commons

Recommended Citation

This Criminal Law is brought to you for free and open access by Northwestern University School of Law Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology by an authorized editor of Northwestern University School of Law Scholarly Commons.
Program for
INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON CRIMINAL LAW ADMINISTRATION
FEBRUARY 19 AND 20, 1960
NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

In observance of its one-hundredth anniversary, Northwestern University School of Law will conduct a series of conferences and lectures during 1959 and 1960 relating to the theme, "Preservation of a Free Society under Law."

One of the events will be an International Conference on Criminal Law Administration on February 19 and 20, 1960. The general objectives of this conference will be (1) to discuss and analyze the laws or rules prevailing in the United States with respect to the subjects comprising the conference agenda and (2) to appraise such laws and rules in light of the practices and procedures of other countries.

With the aid of a grant from the Ford Foundation, lawyers and professors from the United States and seven foreign countries will be brought to the Law School to participate in the conference.

A list of the conference subjects and participants appears below. A more detailed description of the subjects, as well as an outline of the conference procedure, appeared in the July-August, 1959, number of the Journal. Additional details may be obtained by writing to Claude R. Sowle, Assistant Professor of Law, Northwestern University, 357 East Chicago Avenue, Chicago 11, Illinois. All interested persons are cordially invited to attend the conference.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19TH

I. 9:00 a.m.--12:30 p.m.

Police Practices and Policies Regarding "On the Street" Detention, Questioning and "Frisking" of Suspected Persons, and Police Arrest Privileges in General

FRANK J. REMINGTON, Professor of Law, University of Wisconsin, Chairman

CALEB FOOTE, Professor of Law, University of Pennsylvania

O. W. WILSON, Dean, School of Criminology, University of California, Berkeley

and

The Foreign Representatives

II. 2:00 p.m.--5:30 p.m.

Police Interrogation Privileges and Limitations

GERHARD O. W. MUELLER, Associate Professor of Law, New York University, Chairman

FRED E. INbau, Professor of Law, Northwestern University

BERNARD WEISBERG, General Counsel, American Civil Liberties Union, Illinois Division

and

The Foreign Representatives

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20TH

III. 9:00 a.m.--12:30 p.m.

The Exclusionary Rule Regarding Illegally Seized Evidence

FRANCIS A. ALLEN, Professor of Law, University of Chicago, Chairman

MONRAD G. PAULSEN, Professor of Law, Columbia University

VIRGIL W. PETERSON, Operating Director, Chicago Crime Commission

and

The Foreign Representatives

IV. 2:00 p.m.--5:30 p.m.

The Concept of the Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

CLAUDE R. SOWLE, Assistant Professor of Law, Northwestern University, Chairman

JOHN T. McNAUGHTON, Professor of Law, Harvard University

LOUIS C. WYMAN, Attorney General, State of New Hampshire

and

The Foreign Representatives
FELLOWSHIPS IN CRIMINAL LAW

Foreign Participants

Canada     G. ARTHUR MARTIN, Q.C., Toronto
England    GLANVILLE L. WILLIAMS, Professor,
            Jesus College, Cambridge
France     ROBERT VOUIN, Professor of Law,
            University of Bordeaux, Langon
Germany    WALTER R. CLEMENS, Ministry of Justice, Hamburg
Israel     HAIM H. COHN, Attorney General of Israel, Jerusalem
Japan      HARO ABE, Public Prosecutor, Ministry of Justice, Tokyo
Norway     ANDERS BRATHOLM, Professor, Institu-ture of Criminology and Criminal Law, University of Oslo

Six fellowships, ranging from $3,000 to $4,000, are available each year to persons interested in the graduate study of criminal law. This fellowship program is part of an extensive criminal law project at Northwestern University School of Law which has been made possible by a grant from the Ford Foundation.

Four of the fellowships are awarded each year to American law school graduates, and two are for graduates of foreign law schools. Fellowships for study at Northwestern University during the 1959–60 academic year were awarded to the following students: Luigi Boselli, Naples University; Charles E. Brant, Ohio State University; Hope H. Camp, Tulane University; Gilles H. Duguay, University of Montreal; Peter K. Gould, Harvard University; and James A. Weir, Indiana University.

In awarding the fellowships, considerable weight is given to the applicant’s scholastic record and attainments both in law school and in college. Consideration also is given to the applicant’s interest in the field of criminal law and his plans for the future with respect to that interest. Fellowship recipients may pursue criminal law studies leading to a degree of Master of Laws or Doctor of Juridical Science.

In order to be eligible for awards for the 1960–61 academic year, applications must be submitted not later than March 15, 1960. Inquiries should be directed to:

Northwestern University School of Law
357 East Chicago Avenue
Chicago 11, Illinois.